THE REASON

some people buy other ranges is—they don't know the MONARCH.

Monarch MALLEABLE

The 'Stay Satisfactory' Range

Come and let us demonstrate from the range itself. Let us show you how this range is built and explain clearly how this CONSTRUCTION has to do with all of the things you want most in your range. There is quickness of operation—reliability—fuel economy—long life—and economy in kitchen work—without proper construction and materials these essential qualities are not possible in a range. A few minutes' comparison of a Monarch Range with any other will show why.

A meeting of Strathmore Council will be held in the Fire Hall on Monday, when the question of the supply of natural gas to Strathmore will be discussed. The Council would like to see a good attendance of citizens at this meeting

The meeting announced for Tuesday of this week to discuss the question of natural gas supply for Strathmore had to be abandoned, owing to the small attendance of ratepayers. We have sometimes had occasion to accuse the Council of laxity in the past, but this time it is the ratepayers on whom the charge of laxity falls. The question is one of vital importance to Strathmore, and it is for that reason that the Council wish the attendance of the citizens at their meeting on Monday

Reception to Dr. and Mrs Girvin

The dining-room of the King Edward Hotel presented a very animated appearance last Saturday evening, when over 130 of the Strathmore residents and those living in the district assembled there to do honor to Dr Girvin and to the bride whom he has brought to his Strathmore home. The large attendance was a tribute to the popularity which the Doctor enjoys in the district—a popularity which he has well earned by his two years of unremitting medical endeavor for the health of the people in the district.

The bride is, like the doctor, well known and popular in the district, having up to the beginning of the present year been engaged in the task of teaching the young idea how to shoot—to particularise, Miss Morris, as her maiden name was, occupied the position of teacher in Orange Valley School, about five miles south of the town of Strathmore.

At the head of the spacious dining-room were seated the Dr and Mrs Girvin, while before them was a handsome wedding cake, a gift from the citizens of Strathmore, which, it may be mentioned, was made by Mr J. Johnston, of Messrs Martin & Evans' Model Bakery.

Dr Fisher, who it will be remembered, was Dr Girvin's locum tenens for some weeks at the close of last year, and who is now in practice at Calgary, occupied the position of croupier, and he proved himself to be the right man in the right place.

The first toast proposed was that of "The King," responded to by Mr H. J. Spicer. Mr Spicer gave utterance to the usual loyal sentiments in a very pleasing manner.

The toast of "Our Country" was coupled with the names of Councillor D. McCulloch and Mr M. J. Donelly, who both gave expression to the patriotism which forms such a prominent feature of our Western Canadian life.

Messrs Orie Evans and C. B. H. Nelson were in humorous vein when responding to the toast of "Single Blessedness," and as bachelors both pointed out the advantages of that state of existence.

In contradiction to the two foregoing speakers were Messrs Boles and Schettler, who as benedicts, responded to the toast of "Double Cussedness."

The toast of "Our Town" was in the hands of Mr F. T. McElhoes, chairman of the Town Council, who made a good speech, in the course of which he said it was the habit of some people, when they had nothing else to do, to caricature the Council. This reminded him of a big husband with a small wife, who used to thrash him occasionally. The neighbors wondered at this, and when they asked why he allowed it, he replied that "it pleases her, and it doesn't annoy me."

Two local lady-killers, Messrs Starratt and Worthington, responded to the toast of "The Ladies," and in most gallant style dwelt on the many virtues of the fair sex, and told some stories apropos of the same subject.

The most important toast of all, that of "Our Guests," was proposed by Mr E. W. R. Lambert, who in a very felicitous manner, dwelt on the popularity which the Dr had enjoyed since he came to Strathmore, and of the popularity of his bride while she was schoolmistress at Orange Valley. He wished Dr and Mrs Girvin all prosperity and happiness in the future.

Dr Girvin, in replying, thanked the people of Strathmore for their kindness to him and Mrs Girvin in giving them this splendid reception. He had now been two years in Strathmore and had seen great progress and development in the town in that time, and he believed there would be still greater development in the future.

The toast of "The Press" was responded to by Mr John Mackenzie, who said that it was now almost a year since the Strathmore press started business, and it was still going ahead.

The final speech of the evening was made by Mr G. H. Lloyd, who presented to Dr and Mrs Girvin a

Mrs. Nolan and Phyllis re-entered the the drawing room, and Brand became the engrossed object of their attention.

The mother desired to have him print the list of her invited guests who had never attended the reception. Phyllis requested him to print a story about the violinist and was vastly annoyed when Brand informed her that the subject was a matter for the musical editor to attend to.

"And there's something else, Mr. Brand." A look of despair came into Brand's face. "Phyllis went to Miss Barteimy's musicale the other day, and you didn't even include her name among those present," the mother said.

"Why, I'm sorry. That was an oversight, I assure you. I suppose they made up the usual list in the office."

"I hope it won't happen again," remarked Phyllis indignantly.

"Yes, and the way it's handling this Loris Gerove case is all wrong," snapped Mrs. Nolan. "I know Mrs. Loris. She is no better than she should be, and people who live in icehouses shouldn't throw hot water."

"We have no policy in the Loris case," remarked Brand in defense. "We merely print the facts."

"Facts!" Mrs. Nolan cried. "That paper upsets me for the whole day every morning."

"There now, mother; I guess the paper's all right," ventured Nolan soothingly.

"You've got another guess, Michael. Nobody reads it but muggirns, who spend a penny for the Advance and another for a stick of gum and bang on to a strap with one hand and the Advance with the other while they're waggling their jaws all the way down to work. That's all that reads it!" She paused for breath, then went on.

"And I must say I think it's scandalous the way you attack Judge Barteimy every little while."

"Yes," contributed Phyllis, "and his daughter's one of the most exclusive and sought after girls in New York. She's the only one of her set who has been at all nice to me. Isn't that so, mamma?"

"Yes, and why the paper should go for her father just as it does for every other prominent man in town I can't see. She must think it's very funny that such things should appear in the Advance after what she's done for us."

"Oh," suggested Brand, thinking to soothe his employer's wife, "she probably knows that you have absolutely nothing to do with the policy of the Advance."

"Is that so?" ejaculated Mrs. Nolan indignantly. "They certainly are very kind hearted people to act the way they do in the face of that paper."

"Judge Barteimy is first and last a politician," explained Brand.

Michael Nolan bent fast forward intently. The conversation had now reached a point where he realized an issue of vital importance to himself and to the Advance had been touched on.

"Well, I suppose he has been wedding up to us a little," he began, then paused.

Brand drew a deep breath, stood up erect in the middle of the drawing room and lovingly explained the situation to the owner of the paper.

"Barteimy handles people better than any man in town," he declared. "He has studied the Advance, dissected its position and—I will be frank with you—discovered its weaknesses. He knows he can't reach you through your cupidity or political ambition because you lack those qualities. He now realizes that his only hope of influencing us lies in an appeal to — He hesitated.

"Well?" asked Mrs. Nolan ominously. Brand found the courage to complete the sentence.

"His only hope lies in an appeal—to your family's social desires"—Phyllis rose from her seat, her cheeks red with anger—"and that's the only reason he has for taking you up."

Mrs. Nolan gave a scream of wrath. Nolan himself, regretting that the unpleasant scene had occurred, rose from the settee and advanced to calm the ruffled waters, but his face was clouded. Its serious expression indicated that he was deeply concerned over the frank statements of his managing editor, and one could instinctively feel that he was convinced that Brand had spoken the truth.

CHAPTER VI.

NOLAN faced Brand.

"Come, now, Wheeler," he said. "Let's drop the subject now."

"Mr. Brand, you are forgetting your place," contributed Phyllis.

"Michael," insisted Mrs. Nolan, "are you going to let this young man ruin the whole of us? I, for one, am glad Judge Barteimy has taken us up, and if it wasn't for the way Mr. Brand runs wild with that paper"—her voice broke—"others might." She crossed to the door at the left. "There we've squandered money right and left and nobody would have anything to do with us. I declare I was happier poor. At least when I asked anybody to eat then they came. Look at that table in there"—she pointed—"groaning with good things to eat, and there's $100 for hothouse grapes, and nobody's touched 'em!" She picked up a bunch of grapes from a stand and began to eat them.

"Mother," laughed the husband good naturedly, "I've seen you get away with three bunches all by yourself."

"Well, I felt it was my duty not to let them go to waste." She burst into tears. "Come on, Phyllis," she managed to say, and the heartbroken mother and daughter went from the room.

"You mustn't mind what mother says," Nolan said to Brand. "She's been kind o' lonely since she came back to New York."

The editor's heart swelled with sympathy for the woman whose ambitions for herself and her daughter had caused the bitterest pain that injured pride can give. He saw that it would be difficult for her to learn that social position in a big city can be won only by skilful maneuvering, the ability to do which Mrs. Nolan apparently did not possess.

"Oh, I understand!" he answered feelingly.

Brand and Nolan went into the library to smoke. Hardly had they disappeared when Phyllis entered the drawing room as an escort for Judge Barteimy and his daughter Judith. Brand had not erred a few minutes previous when in the next room he had pronounced the judge to be the best "handler of people" in the city. The conversation which ensued between the jurist and his daughter as they awaited their hostess well illustrated his reasons for accepting, with his daughter, Mrs. Nolan's invitation. When Pitcher had gone in search of Mrs. Nolan it was the girl who first spoke.

"Father," she said, "I want you to know that I've been to five teas this afternoon. I'm doing you a great favor to come to this one."

"This doesn't come under the head of social duties."

"Yes, my dear; I appreciate it, but social duties"—

The girl laughed shortly.

"Now, this doesn't come under the head of social duties."

"Oh, yes," the judge answered quickly, "if you view society in its broader sense. Beyond your little world is a larger one where caste is of small consequence and where all men should be of service to each other."

"But the Nolans—they certainly haven't been of service to you?" questioned the girl.

He glanced sharply at Judith.

"But I wish them to be and we're getting on we're getting on."

"Their paper keeps going for you just as much as ever, father. I don't suppose one ought to mind it, but I do."

"Judith, Nolans have lived in every age in every country, pronounced the jurist. "He's a composite of anarchist and autocrat. Eventually the autocrat in him will triumph. Just now he's pounding on institutions I, or instance, represent to him the judiciary, and he attacks me. No consequence whatever, but I do take in defense of the United States bench. My cause is the cause of my colleagues. I tell you Judith, I know the breed. I know how to get the cream out of his frugs. Diplomacy, my dear diplomacy!"

Judith became enthusiastic.

"Father, I believe you would have been a great prime minister in the old days!"

The judge straightened up, smiling pleasedly at his daughter's complimentary estimate of him. "Hardly that, hardly that," he protested. He became reflective. "They were twelve old men, for a thousand years courteously marrying kings and their armies like pawns on a chessboard. They were always very tactful, Judith, those princes of the past."

"Oh," she admitted, "you never fail to illustrate your point, whatever it is!"

"Just imagine," said her father, "what one of those old fellows would do in this case."

"Yes, I suppose you're right, and in the end you'll make those people see how wrong they've been about you."

"Oh, yes," he went on contentedly. "As they become accustomed to their prosperity you will find that the demagogism of their paper will be mostified and ultimately vanish." He seated himself near his daughter.

"That would be a terrible blow for Wheeler, wouldn't it?" she suddenly asked.

"Wheeler! Oh, Wheeler! He's an entirely different type the idealist, the fanatic as idealist. I'm sorry. I always liked the boy. His heart's all right, but his head's all wrong, and I hope he's merely passing through a phase."

"I don't think you quite understand Wheeler, father," responded Judith, rising.

He took hold of the girl's hands.

"Oh, yes, I do. Just now he has lost himself in a labyrinth, and I am trying as Ariadne to lend him out. I believe the right woman might bring him to reason." He paused significantly. Judith lowered her eyes from his. "I forgive him any annoyance he may have caused me, and I hope you will forgive him, too. I want you and Wheeler to be friends again and, like the princess in the fairy stories, live happily ever after." He patted her fondly on the shoulder.

WELCOME CRIMINALS.

"Politicals" Get Sanctuary When They Reach Foreign Soil.

When a man commits an ordinary crime and then flies to another country, the Government of that country is, as a general rule, only too glad to hand him over on demand, and cry "Good riddance to bad rubbish." When, however, the crime happens to be a political one, the case is altogether different. In such an event he will frequently welcomes him with open arms. In any case it almost invariably refuses to surrender him.

This is in accordance with both the written and unwritten law of nations, which grants "right of sanctuary" to political offenders, and for this reason a good deal more is likely to be heard in the near future of the "Savarkar incident," as it is now beginning to be called.

Savarkar, it will be remembered, was the Hindoo student who was arrested in London for carrying on a seditious propaganda in India, and was deported to that country for trial. On the way out there, however, the steamer that was conveying him put into the harbor of Marseilles, and Savarkar seized the opportunity to jump overboard and swim ashore.

A French policeman arrested him as he clambered up the quay side, and handed him over to the crew of the ship's boat that was sent to fetch him back, in ignorance of the fact that he was a political offender. But he was one, in fact. He had set foot on French soil, and he had thereby entitled himself to his "right of sanctuary." As a consequence, the French Government, as soon as it learned the truth of the matter, started to make "friendly representations" to the British Government, and these are still in progress. What the result will be remains to be seen.

Nor are other nations much less tender of the rights of "politicals," as this class of offenders are called. They have the appearance of a cylinder about as thick as a man's wrist and fourteen inches long.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON I.—FOURTH QUARTER, FOR OCT. 2, 1910.

Text of the Lesson, Matt. xxv, 1-13. Memory Verses, 10-12—Golden Text, Luke xii, 40—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

We have now been assigned from chapter xxiii, but let us not fail to note the summing up of the religion of the Pharisees as seen and judged by the Judge of all the earth, "All their works they do for to be seen of man." Never was life lived, from our standpoint, either before people for their approval or before God for His approval only. The latter is the only true way to live, according to II Tim. ii, 15, but it is to be feared that many a preacher has more regard for the approval of his congregation than for the approval of God. Let each consider the eight woes of this chapter, and the time to which the "till" or "until" of verse 39 points, along with Luke xxi, 24, and Rom. xi, 25.

We shall have one study some weeks later in the latter part of chapter xxiv, but nothing in the first thirty-one verses of this farreaching and all important Olivet discourse. Yet we cannot understand the lesson of today except in the light of the great events of verses 30, 31, the coming of the Son of man in glory at the close of the great tribulation, for it is then that affairs on earth shall be as in the days of Noah. Iniquity cannot come to a head while the church is on earth (II Thess. ii, 7, 8), but the Holy Spirit, in His official capacity of gathering out the church, having been taken with the church at her rapture to meet her Lord, then the evil trinity of devil, beast and false prophet do their utmost to overthrow the Lamb of God and to destroy His people Israel (Dan. xii, 1, 3; Rev. xvii, 14), who shall never cease from the earth (Matt. xxiv, 34; Jer. xxxi, 35, 37). But at the coming of Christ in glory shall receive Him as their Messiah and become thus a righteous nation to bless all nations (Isa. lx, 1-3, 19-21).

If the "then" of the first verse of our lesson could refer to the coming of Christ with His saints, the ten virgins could be interpreted only of Israel, and there is something in favor of this in the Vulgate and Syriac MSS., which give the last clause of verse 1, as "went forth to meet the bridegroom and the bride." But without attempting to settle the interpretation of it, there is an abundance of truth which all may profit by. There are, and there will be till He comes, some wise and some foolish, all of them professors, but only some possessors. The wheat and tares will grow together till the harvest, which is the end of the age, when the wise and the foolish of chapter xii, 21-27, and note that He will have to say to some very literally, "I never knew you; depart from me." It is written, "He that winneth souls is wise," and Daniel tells us that "the wise shall shine as the brightness of the firmament" (Prov. xi, 30; Dan. xii, 3). Be certain we can imagine who the foolish are. See also in Luke xii, 20, 21, that the rich fool was not brained, one of the earth and are not rich toward God. When we consider that there is none righteous, no not one; there is none that understandeth, there is none that seeketh after God (Rom. iii, 10, 11), how foolish and blind indeed the devil must all those be who, turning their backs on the only way of righteousness as Cain did, think to find entrance to the kingdom by their own good works, by character, by connection with a so called church and by baptism and the Lord's supper. Only those are wise who can truly say, "Thou must wash and hast redeemed us to God by Thy blood," and who "overcome by the blood of the Lamb and the word of their testimony, not loving their lives unto the death (Rev. v, 9; xii, 11). A lamp is no manner of use, except perhaps to be admired, without oil. Oil is a symbol of the Holy Spirit, and in Rom. viii, 9, we read that "if any man have not the Spirit of Christ he is none of His." That would seem to settle the question of the foolishness of virgins (I. S.). That all, both wise and foolish, slumbered and slept, would seem to indicate that the wise as well as the foolish were indifferent to the great event of the coming of the Lord. If we judge by the few preachers who seem to know or care anything about His coming, and by the great darkness and blindness of believers generally in this matter, it is evident that with few exceptions they are surely all one. And all But there is a sleep that is lawful, and if we are right with God it will be better if as to our bodies we do not awake or adorn when Jesus comes, for we are told that "if any man keep his garments" (Song v, 2). The wise virgins were ready and they went in with Him to the marriage, and the door was shut (verse 10).

There is no readiness apart from God's grace, provided by Him on right conditions, which He gives freely to all who receive Him. Then we can always say, "Thanks be unto God, the Lord, my soul shall be joyful in my God, for He hath clothed me with the garments of salvation. He hath covered me with the robe of righteousness (Isa. lxi, 10). Thus arrayed in the Beloved, in whom we have redemption through His blood, we are always ready for His call.

HANDSOME DWARFS.

A Striking Race Has Been Found In New Guinea.

Details of the discovery by British explorers in New Guinea of a new pigmy race are contained in reports which have reached London from the expedition. The party, under Mr. Goodfellow, the noted ornithologist, is exploring the largest unknown area on the world's surface.

The men of the new race were first seen by Captain W. G. Rawling. The meeting is described as follows:

"Captain Rawling was making a short trip into the mountains. While proceeding with his Papuans the leading men gave a yell and dashed ahead. There were visions of pig, but the quarry turned out to be two hillmen who, after a long chase through the jungle were caught. They were dreadfully frightened, but their faces assumed a more or less calm expression when their bags and spears had been returned to them and they were presented with some beads. Captain Rawling then offered them a cigarette, but nothing would induce them to smoke it. Doubtless they thought it was poisoned. They were naked except for a grass helmet, a bag and a tiny strip round the waist. They were four feet three inches and four feet six inches in height respectively.

"A few days after, when entering the hills, Captain Rawling 'spotted' two more fording the river below and a quarter of a mile away. The men accompanying the explorer crouched like cats and taking to the torrent quickly, while the chase made too much noise for the hillmen to hear their pursuers until they were out of. The dwarfs fought valiantly nevertheless, but were at last dragged to the shore. On being measured they were found to be 4 feet 2 inches and 4 feet 4 inches, so it looks as if all these people naturally belong to a tribe of dwarfs similar to those of Central Africa, but good-looking and well proportioned."

One of the explorers says that it is difficult to make out whether the natives are cannibals or not. Heads of the enemy slain in battle are kept strung from the ceiling of their houses, but it is impossible to say whether the bodies have been devoured!

Dr. Eric Marshall describes a remarkable native festival, including a war dance and a pig sacrifice. Two full-grown boars, on each of which a man sat astride, were led to the altar, while the women plastered their wet mud from head to foot, kept up a tremendous wailing. Amid shouting and "moaning" the boars were clubbed to death. The women then ... the carcasses free and these ... smeared on the dead bodies, wailing loudly in ecstasies of grief.

Afterwards there was a general play the women and girls, many of them quite pretty, chasing the men up to the riverside and into the water.

"This is one of the few ceremonies," Dr. Marshall says, "when the women are allowed to beat the men, the latter not being permitted to retaliate. The damsels finally became so bold that they entered the camp."

Of the natives at Wakatimi, where a base camp was formed, one of the explorers writes: "They have collected in thousands, and at present all are friendly and full of curiosity. Dressed they don't boast much of—except a tiny strip of cloth. With the exception of one or two of the young girls the women, too, are hideous, but a few of the children are quite nice."

Within a week of landing Mr. Wilfred Stalker, one of the explorers, lost his life. He left camp alone, went shooting, and losing himself, either became delirious with fever or went mad. His body was found in a river, the scratches on his face and body indicating that he had been running through the undergrowth.

Reads Only the Best.

Prince Henry, the fourth child of King George, who has gone to Scotland with his parents, is being educated at St. Peter's Court, Broadstairs, where there are about sixty boarders between the ages of ten and fourteen. They are being prepared chiefly for Eton and Harrow. The young prince is allowed no special privileges, and, apparently, his pocket money is limited, for he confessed to a companion at a local "tuck" shop the other time are that he had spent his weekly allowance of is. That he knows a good book when he sees it, however, is evident from the fact that while waiting on the station at Broadstairs prior to the departure for the Highlands, he bought a copy of one of the best magazines, and was seen deep in one of the thrilling adventure stories as the train steamed out of the station.

African Railroad Profitable.

The last section from the north—viz., from Khartoum to Wad Medani, a distance of about 100 miles on the Cape to Cairo Railway, has now been opened to public traffic for six months. It was opened on January 1, and the traffic carried during this period is given in the official returns all expectations. The amount of produce which has reached now section has tapped has, in fact, been a revelation to everyone. The takings for the first month's working were $50,000.

He Wouldn't Stay Bought.

A guest was expected for dinner, and Bobby had received 5 cents as the price of his silence during the meal. He sat as quiet as a mouse until discovering that his favorite dessert was served, he could no longer curb his enthusiasm. He drew the coin from his pocket and, holding it up, said aloud to mamma, "Here's your nickel, mamma. I'd rather talk."

Girl Rescues Aged Invalid.

An exciting incident occurred at a fire in Ballarat, Victoria, lately, when the residence of an old invalid lady named Mrs. Kelly was totally burnt down, following the upsetting of a kerosene lamp in a bedroom. The old woman was gallantly rescued by an eleven-year-old girl who ran into the burning room and dragged Mrs. Kelly out just as the flames reached the door.

REV. A. U. DE PENCIER.

brains to other business than cleries might have been a captain of industry.

Bishop de Pencier was born in Burritt's Rapids, down in Grenville County, Ontario, about forty years ago. From Kemptville High School he went to Trinity University, from which he graduated in arts and theology in 1895. His first charge was the parish of Marion, near Ottawa. He soon got up to Toronto as curate of St. Alban's—which is the real cathedral of Toronto, and now engaged in a huge financial effort to finish up a $500,000 edifice, begun over twenty years ago. Rector of Uxbridge —famous for organs—he was shifted back to Toronto, where he became senior curate of St. James', which is only the alleged cathedral of Toronto; since members of St. James' have family inheritance and burial ground near the catadral and catnedral seat holdings must of necessity be free.

Out to Brandon was Rev. Mr. de Pencier's next move. Here he became rector of St. Matthew's and rural dean. In 1906 he left Brandon for Vancouver. Now he is Bishop of New Westminster. Which is swift progress.

He Emulated Martyr.

A curious story of how a 13-year-old boy was accidentally hanged whilst endeavoring to bind himself in the way adopted in the drama, "The Christian Martyr," was told at a West Ham inquest. The mother of the lad said that she and her husband went out one evening, leaving the boy sketching. Asked what he was sketching, the woman replied, "The Christian Martyr." "I have got it here," she said, and she handed it to the coroner. It was executed in blue crayon, and portrayed a young girl, bound with ropes to a stake in the river, and with a dagger driven through her heart. The mother added that when she returned with her husband she found the lad hanging on the bedroom door. A handkerchief was tied tightly around his neck, and slipped under it was a rope, fastened over the door to the bedpost.

Clever Daughter of Clever Parents.

Miss Neilson Terry, who has been making such a hit in "Priscilla Runs Away" at the Haymarket Theatre in London, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred. Terry, who have played together in so many successes all over England. Mr. Terry, who, curiously enough, first walked on the stage at the opening of the Haymarket Theatre under the Bancroft regime in 1880 at the age of fifteen, first met his wife when she was acting in "The Dancing Girl."

One day Mr. Tree came to her and said, "I have engaged Mr. Fred. Terry to play 'lover' to you, because he is tall." Miss Neilson was distinctly pleased, because in Wal Medani, "The Yellow Dwarf" she had already experienced the indignity of being rescued by a short lover. Very soon her lover in play became her lover in earnest, and, as Mr. Fred. Terry himself expresses it, "Miss Neilson took pity on me and became my wife."

King Remembers Clown.

The King has sent a gift of $15 to Mr. James Doughty, the oldest public entertainer in the kingdom and once a favorite with London children as pantomime clown. Mr. Doughty wrote to the King saying that he was the oldest member of his craft still before the public. "At the old man's intense delight he received a reply from Sir William Carrington, who stated that he had been commanded by the King to send him a postoffice order for $15. With his troupe of performing dogs Mr. Doughty has been a notable figure on the sands at Brighton for over thirty years. He is preparing to celebrate his ninety-second birthday by a benefit performance.

An Ancient Lady.

At the Egyptian Exploration Fund's Exhibition in London there is the skeleton of a pre-Dynastic lady, found in one of the countless tombs of Abydos. Scientists say there is no doubt that this lady lived at least 8,000 years ago. A humorous paper says that the lady would probably deny it if she could still speak.

GOOD HEALTH FOR BABY AT VERY LITTLE COST

Baby's Own Tablets only cost 25 cents a box. A box bought now may save baby's life. Summer complaints come suddenly, and carry away thousands of little ones every year. If the stomach and bowels are kept in order there is little danger from these troubles. Baby's Own Tablets is the best medicine in the world for preventing and curing stomach and bowel troubles. They can be given with perfect safety to the new-born babe or to the well grown child. An occasional dose of the tablets will regulate the stomach and bowels and prevent summer complaints. The mother who keeps these Tablets on hand may feel assured her little ones are safe. If you have not got a box of the Tablets get one without delay. Do not wait until trouble comes: it may then be too late. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

HELPING HUMANITY.

Father and Son Viewed Conditions From Opposite Standpoints.

Twenty years ago, says the Chicago Advance, a discouraged young doctor in a large city was visited once by his old father, who came up from a rural district to look after his boy.

"Well, son," he said, "how are you getting along?"

"I'm not getting along at all," was the disheartened reply. "I'm not doing a thing."

The old man's countenance fell, but he spoke of courage and patience and perseverance. Later in the day he went with his son to the free dispensary, where the young doctor had an unsalaried position and where he spent an hour or more every day. The father sat by, a silent but intensely interested spectator, while twenty-five poor unfortunates received help. The doctor forgot his visitor while he bent his skilled energies to the task, but hardly had the door closed on the last patient when the old man burst forth:

"I thought you told me that you were not doing anything! Why, if I had helped twenty-five people in a month as much as you have in one morning I would thank God my life counted for something."

"There isn't any money in it, though," explained the son, somewhat abashed. "Money!" the old man shouted, still scornfully. "Money! What is money in comparison with being of use to your fellow men? Never mind about money. You go right along at this work every day. I'll go back to the farm and gladly earn money enough to support you as long as I live—yes, and sleep sound every night with the thought that I have helped you to help your fellow men."

SHREWD VICTOR HUGO.

Quiet Way In Which He Bullied the Theatrical Managers.

Here are the methods which Dumas the elder and Victor Hugo employed when they had a new play to offer to the theater. Dumas would write to the director of the Porte St. Martin:

My Dear Friend—I shall bring you on Monday a play in five acts. I shall need five costumes, Mme. Dorval, Bocage, Ligeroy, Provost and five new scenes.

This extravagance would alarm the director, who would put off the production of the play till better days.

Then Victor Hugo would appear and shyly draw a manuscript out of his pocket. He would agree to everything. The stock company would play his piece admirably, since all he wanted was a good ensemble; no new decorations would be needed nor any change at all.

So the piece would be read, and as the roles were distributed Hugo would say musingly, "Dieu, how fine Frederick would be in that part!" "That is true." Hored would murmur, and a few days after he would announce that Frederick was engaged. Hugo would then demonstrate that this destroyed the equilibre of the cast, and Rauzourt, Laferriere and Mlle. Georges would be engaged. Then Hugo would attack the scene setting. Old scenes which the public had dired of were almost an insult to these great artists. If Frederick undertook one at that, Hugo would threaten to withdraw his piece. And so the game would go on till, little by little, Hugo had obtained everything he wanted, even to the changing of the paper hangings in the stage boxes.

Australia's Stony Desert.

The great stony desert of north Australia was discovered by Captain Sturt, on an expedition of exploration in 1845. It is north of the river Darling and is about 200 miles long and 100 broad, consisting of sandy plains or ridges, its want of trees, except along the creeks, gives the country a sterile appearance. These ridges were probably formed by the joint effort of winds and a gradually retiring sea. According to Captain Sturt, these waters were gradually lost by evaporation or carried to some undiscovered sea. The only vegetation, growing scantily, is prickly acacias in full bloom, all of stunted growth. Water is scarce except in the creeks which are sheltered, and this is generally brackish. Few travelers care to traverse this inhospitable desert.

"Can you tell me the time, gov'nor?" he gruffly inquired.

The Aftermath.

Mrs. DuPuy—I was so surprised to hear that Edith and Mr. Sissingham were married. You know they always used to claim their attachment was merely platonic. Mrs. Kokkernose—Yes, I remember. But now, I fear, they wouldn't claim it was even that. —Lippincott's.

HOW SKIN-TROUBLES HAVE BEEN CURED

A Remarkable Record of Itching, Burning, Disfiguring Eruptions Successfully Treated.

That those who have suffered long and hopelessly from eczema and other torturing, disfiguring eruptions of the skin and scalp and who have lost faith in all manner of treatment, may learn that there is one way to find immediate relief, the following remarkable series of condensed testimonials is published:

W. H. White, 312 E. Cabot St., Philadelphia: Knee to ankle a mass of eruption. Suffering simply indescribable for six long years. Had to scratch till blood ran and health was undermined from lack of sleep. Cuticura Remedies cured it without a mark.

Mrs. M. C. Maitland, Jasper, Ont.: Itchy rash on her baby's head when but three months old. It spread over entire body. Put mittens on him to prevent scratching. Reduced to a skeleton. One bath with Cuticura Soap and application of Cuticura Ointment soothed him to sleep. A single set of Cuticura Remedies cured him and now dear little child would have died but for Cuticura Remedies.

Mrs. Wm. Hunt, 259 Fairmount Ave., Newark, N. J.: Whole body a mass of raw, torturing eczema. Agony was beyond words. Hair all fell out and ears seemed ready to drop off. Clothing would stick to bleeding flesh. Hoped death would soon end fearful suffering. Cuticura Remedies cooled the itching, bleeding flesh at once and soon cured me.

Mme. J. B. Renaud, 277 Bertrand St., Montreal: Treated by doctors 25 years for bad eczema on leg. It spread from leg down; foot like raw flesh. Doctor advised letting it run. Tried Cuticura. My 17 Cuticura Remedies did in two months' use of Cuticura Remedies all that cured.

Mrs. Nora Simonds, 234 Long Garden, Bromley, London: Two little girls had dreadful scalp trouble that started with ringworm. Cried with intense itching. Hospital treatment gave frightful pain but did no good. Suffered three years, cured by three sets of Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

H. A. Krutskoff, 5714 Wabash Ave., Chicago: Itching eruption spread from hands to body. Literally tore his skin off in shreds. Doctors and remedies did no good. Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills stopped itching quickly and cured disease in three weeks.

Frank Gridley, 325 E. 43rd St., New York: By twenty-four hours he became raw from head to foot with a dreadful burning itch, suffered agonies and could not lie down or sit up. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment cured him in a single day.

Mrs. Kate Brougham, 200 Dewey St., Bennington, Vt.: Rash came on her baby and soon turned to watery, crusted eczema over face, head and body. She was a fearful sight and all attempts at cure were fruitless. Vasty improved in a week by use of Cuticura Remedies and soon skin was clear and healthy.

G. J. Dann, 25 New Island, Brentford, England: Tortured for five years with bad skin trouble. Attended hospital five months without success. Covered with eruption. No sleep nor rest. Felt like tearing himself to pieces with terrible itching. With first application of Cuticura Soap and Ointment felt good night's rest. After a fortnight Cuticura Ointment cured him as if by magic.

Cuticura Soap (25c.) and Cuticura Ointment (50c.) are sold by druggists everywhere. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Cuticura Book on skin diseases. Address Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Boston, Mass.

His Reverence at the Barber's

"Drink," said the irrepressible joker, beckoning to the waiter, "is a great curse. It ruins my father's confessor and my barber agree on that.

"Father Ambrose went in the other day to get a shave. He observed also that the barber was suffering from a recent night out, but decided to take a chance. In a few moments the barber's razor had nicked the father's cheek.

"There, Pat, you have cut me," said the priest, as he raised his hand and examined the cut.

"Yis, y'r riv'rance," answered the barber.

"That shows you," continued the priest, in a tone of censure, "what the use of liquor will do."

"Yis, y'r riv'rance," replied the barber, humbly; 'it makes the skin tinder.'"

HIRED APPLAUSE.

The Great Rachel Made the Claque Earn Its Money.

Speaking of applause in theaters, a theatrical man relates the following concerning the great actress Rachel:

"It seems that upon a certain opening night Rachel received enthusiastic applause, but on the second night it was so noticeably slim that the actress felt deeply grieved and bitterly complained that the claque was not doing its duty. The leader of the hired 'applause makers' on hearing of her displeasure wrote her a letter in which he endeavored to excuse himself from any blame.

"'Mademoiselle—I cannot remain under the obloquy of a reproach from such lips as yours,' he began. 'The following is an authentic statement of what really took place: At the first representation I led the attack in person not less than thirty-three times. We had three acclamations, four hilarities, two thrilling movements, four renewals of applause and two indefinite explosions. In fact, to such an extent did we carry our applause that the occupants of the stalls were scandalized and cried out à la porte!

"'My men were positively exhausted with fatigue and even intimated to me that they could not again go through such an evening. Seeing such to be the case, I applied for the manuscript, and after having profoundly studied the piece I was obliged to make up my mind for the second representation to certain curtailments in the service of my men.'

"The writer thus goes on at some length to assure the actress he will try to make future amends and requests her to believe in his profound admiration."—Exchange.

TALKING IN FIGURES.

Significance of Certain Numbers In the Railroad Code.

"In the telegraphers' code numbers have special significance of which the general public is not aware," remarked a veteran key night the other day. "Most everybody knows that 30 means 'good night,' or the end of a story, but few outside the profession know that 31 is also a good sign. Railroad operators, however, know that this cell is a signal to the operator at the other end to come back and report train signals to the sending operator. It also has another meaning. 'Train' order to be signed by conductor and engine driver.' Nineteen, on the other hand, means that the train order is not to be signed by conductor or engine driver. Twenty-four has also the latter significance on some roads.

"Five is simply an interrogation point and in the vernacular could be translated 'Anything doing?' Thirteen signifies 'Do you understand?' Twenty-five means 'busy,' but nobody seems to know how it came to have that significance unless perhaps it means that the operator is still in the midst of his work, being some distance away from 30.

"Seventy-three means 'best regards,' and newspaper men and operators employ this expression constantly. Of course 23 has come to mean in this numerical language just what it does in ordinary parlance, 'skiddoo,' 'vamoose' or 'butt out' or any of the thousand and one other equivalents."—New York Herald.

The Governor's Quick Wit.

While talking to a former governor of Illinois, who was noted for the quickness of his wit, an English tourist spoke with special fervor of a sight he had seen in another state.

"I attended a Sunday service for the inmates of the state prison," he said, "and I learned that of the 208 persons now confined there all but twelve voluntarily attend religious services held in the prison chapel twice each Sunday."

"Most extraordinary," said the governor musingly. "I am sorry to say it is not so with us. But then," he added soberly, "in Illinois, you see, most of the people do not come to prison."—Lippincott's.

Sign Language.

Brown and Jones were having their usual stroll and had just had a few minutes' conversation with Robinson, who was accompanied by his wife. After they had gone on some little distance Brown said to Jones:

"Did you notice that Mrs. Robinson never said a word?"

"Oh, yes," said Jones. "You see, she's deaf and dumb."

"Deaf and dumb!" Robinson. But I suppose she can talk with her fingers?" asked Brown.

"I think so," replied Jones, "for Robinson hasn't a dozen hairs left on his head."

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1910.

Our First Birthday

With this issue—number 52—of the Strathmore and Bow Valley Standard, we complete one year of publication and enter upon our second volume. It was on October 2, 1909, that this paper first saw the light in Strathmore. Since that time we have had some difficulties and vicissitudes, but we have overcome them, with the result that we are still in the running, and are now issuing a paper more than double the size of the modest publication that first presented the news of Strathmore for the benefit of the town and district, and also for the edification of those who lived outside the Province, but who were either intending to become settlers, or who wished to have information from an unprejudiced source of the progress and development of the district

As we have stated, the Standard is now more than double the size it was at the first publication. It is only natural that it should be so, when we consider that the town has doubled in size during the same period, and we hope we will not be considered unduly optimistic or egoistic when we express the belief that both the town and the newspaper will continue to increase in size and influence for many years to come

The progress of the newspaper has also been coincident with the remarkable growth that has taken place in the district surrounding Strathmore during the twelve-month now passed. It would be safe to say that there are now 40 per cent more farmers in the district than there were at this time last year. The long stretches of unbroken prairie are gone, and their place has been taken by the farms of the settlers who have come here to wrest at least a living from Alberta's fruitful soil. The phenomenal influx of settlers into this district was a sight in a lifetime, and one that gave confidence to anyone who was in anyone interested in the progress of the town and district. Though the weather has been of a very trying nature this year it has shown what Alberta soil, supplemented by irrigation, can do even in the very dryest of years.

We have made many friends during our first year's publication in Strathmore and district. We may also have some enemies, but we hope not, for we wish it understood that in any criticisms we may have of any body or individual we have no personal animosity, and all our efforts in that direction are for the hastening of progress in the town and district, and not for any private interest.

During the past year we have had the support of the people in the town and district to a marked degree, and we take this opportunity of returning thanks to our subscribers and advertisers for their support. We hope to warrant the continuance of that support and that others who have not yet been convinced of the wisdom of advertising and the benefit to a district of a good local newspaper will see the error of their ways.

In next week's issue we shall make an announcement regarding a change which has taken place in the ownership of the Standard.

...appealed of a total house of forty-one members the vote on this question stood seventeen—twenty, or a majority for the government of only three. The whole matter was referred to a committee of three judges for investigation. But before any report was received from the courts the lieutenant govenor called upon the chief justice of the province to take over the affairs of the provincial government. I have protested and fought from the beginning against the calling in of an outsider who did not hold a seat in the legislature and who has been given the control of our afairs without any reference to the people. I have already expressed the opinion that we should have had an election and that the people should have been given an opportunity to say by their votes who should control the affairs of the province. Because of these matters, which I have briefly stated, I sent in my resignation as a member of the house, feeling, as I have already stated, that the people should be given an opportunity of expressing themselves upon these important matters.

At a largely attended convention held in Calgary a few days ago I was nominated to contest again the riding as an Independent candidate, that is to say that if again selected by the electorate of Gleichen, and elect as their representative I will go to Edmonton prepared to support all good measures which I feel in my judgment will work to the best good of my constituents and the province as a whole. These are some of the matters which will be more fully discussed at public meetings which will be held during this election.

In conclusion I can only express the hope that before casting your votes you will weigh fully the important matters which are to be decided by this election. The money $7,400,000 represented in this railway deal has been, through the efforts of myself and sixteen other member of the house, tied up in the mean time. Should the electors of Gleichen vote against me upon this occasion it is possible that the government would take that to mean that the people endorse the deal and would probably proceed to carry out the contract which is one of the worst railway deals ever made by any government in Canada.

I have always worked in the best interests of Gleichen. I have always raised my voice in the house on behalf of the working man. If I should again receive your support I promise that, as in the past, so in t e future, I shall strive for good government and the advancement in every possible way of the interests of the Gleichen electors.

E. H. Riley's Strathmore Meeting

Considering that it was held on Saturday afternoon, which is generally the busiest time of the week, the attendance at the meeting held in Strathmore in furtherance of Mr Riley's candidature was very good, and the audience was composed to a great extent of farmers and others who would find it difficult to attend an evening meeting. The chairman was Mr W. E. Brown.

Mr Riley, who was the first speaker, devoted his time mainly to an exposition of the A. & G. W. Railway deal and of his reasons for resigning. The Premier had said at the meeting held in Strathmore on Thursday that there was no excuse for him (the speaker) not being able to understand the Act, because it only consisted of two pages in large type which any schoolboy could read and understand. That was quite true, but it was not the Act itself they took exception to mainly, but the agreement, which was not laid before the House before the Act was passed. The specifications which the Government had agreed to would have allowed the compady to plow up some prairie loam, place ties at intervals of 7 feet along it, lay down some old rails, and then collect $20,000 a mile. It was only after weeks of hard debate in the legislative assembly that the Government consented to bring down the papers regarding the A. & G. W. Railway agreement, and when the heap of scattered and jumbled sheets was placed on the table, the first to be examined was a telegram from the Government at Edmonton asking Mr Mintz, Winnipeg, solicitor for the company, what was the paid-up capital of the company. This was stated on the same day as a member had asked a question regarding the amount of paid-up capital of the company. The Government didn't even know that, and wired after the question was asked. Mr Riley gave many other instances of the iniquitousness of the railway deal. He also expressed his feelings on the action of Lieut-Governor Bulyea in calling on a member of the judiciary to take up the premiership. It was done so that the public would not have the opportunity of judging the men responsible for that deal, but he (Mr Riley) had determined that one constituency at least would have a chance of passing judgment on it. That was the reason he resigned.

Continuing, he said that he had been active in their interests at Edmonton. He saw that they were getting a grant for road improvement in Strathmore district (there being an election on). If they looked up the files at Edmonton they would find a communication from E. H. Riley six months ago asking for the same thing, but it was refused then. It had been said that if Gleichen did not elect Mr McArthur they would get no Government money spent here, but the contrary would be the case. He instanced the case of High River, which elected an opposition member, A. J. Robertson The Government member, when he asked for anything for his constituency, was usually told that they couldn't possibly do it, and to try and pacify them as well as he could. If they cast a vote for A. J. McArthur they would be giving authority to the Government to go on with the A. & G. W. Railway.

Mr W. J. Tregillus, who followed, said he was not a politician, but a plain farmer. Premier Sifton, when met by a deputation of the U.F.A. directors asking for aid to the farmers, had said that the farmers should work out their own salvation, and that all the money was required for railways and transportation. The farmers intended to do that, and when they did Premier Sifton would need to look out for his own salvation. Mr Tregillus spent much of his address on criticism of the Albertan, and wound up by advising the farmers, if they wished to better their interests, to vote for Mr Riley.

The last speaker was Mr McGillivray, of Calgary, who in an eloquent and passionate speech, denounced the method of appointment of Premier Sifton, which if it might be within the letter of the Constitution, was entirely outside the spirit of it. If Premier Sifton's example was followed, it would mean the degradation of the judiciary, in whose impartiality there was at present such implicit belief. The judiciary should not be made merely a stepping-stone in politics

An opposition note was supplied in the meeting by the speech of Mr M. E. Siy, of Strathmore, who took up some of the points raised by Mr Riley. Mr Riley had been one of those who had assisted at the passage of the A. & G. W. Act, and his excuse that he trusted the then Premier was no justification. There was no reason for him resigning and putting the country to such expense, as his re-election would serve no purpose

The meeting closed with cheers for Mr Riley

What a Vote for Riley really Means

1. A vote for Riley means a vote for independent thought. A vote for Riley means that you protest against the government of the Country being carried on by an irresponsible oligarchy

10. A vote for Riley means that you resent the interference of Ottawa in the affairs of Alberta

APPEAL TO GLEICHEN ELECTORS

In March, 1909, I appealed to you for your support as a supporter of the Liberal Government at which Mr. Rutherford was the head. You showed your confidence in me upon that occasion by placing me at the head of the poll with a majority double that which I received in 1907.

At the first meeting of the Legislature after that election the question of the transaction regarding a contract which the government had entered into with the Alberta and Great Waterways Railway company for the construction of a railway north from Edmonton to Fort McMurray, was brought to the attention of the house. The government was asked for information in regard to this transaction as the contracts represented the payment of the large sum of $7,000,000 of the money of the people of the province. The charge was made that the contract and the agreement had been very loosely drawn up, that in every possible way the government had not protected the interests of the province in the manner in which they should have done. After a great deal of discussion in the house and in a long debate, during which the government was unable to give any satisfactory explanation regarding this transaction, a vote was taken, and although the government had thirty eight Liberal supporters of a total house of forty-one members the vote on this question stood seventeen—twenty, or a majority for the government of only three. The whole matter was referred to a committee of three judges for investigation. But before any report was received from the courts the lieutenant governor called upon the chief justice of the province to take over the affairs of the provincial government. I have protested and fought from the beginning against the calling in of an outsider who did not hold a seat in the legislature and who has been given the control of our afairs without any reference to the people. I have already expressed the opinion that we should have had an election and that the people should have been given an opportunity to say by their votes who should control the affairs of the province. Because of these matters, which I have briefly stated, I sent in my resignation as a member of the house, feeling, as I have already stated, that the people should be given an opportunity of expressing themselves upon these important matters.

At a largely attended convention held in Calgary a few days ago I was nominated to contest again the riding as an Independent candidate, that is to say, that if again selected by the electorate of Gleichen as their representative I will go to Edmonton prepared to support all good measures which I feel in my judgment will work to the best good of my constituents and the province as a whole. These are some of the matters which will be more fully discussed at public meetings which will be held during this election.

In conclusion I can only express the hope that before casting your votes you will weigh fully the important matters which are to be decided by this election. The money $7,400,000 represented in this railway deal has been, through the efforts of myself and sixteen other members of the house, tied up in the mean time. Should the electors of Gleichen vote against me upon this occasion it is possible that the government would take that to mean that the people endorse the deal and would probably proceed to carry out the contract which is one of the worst railway deals ever made by any government in Canada.

I have always worked in the best interests of Gleichen. I have always raised my voice in the house on behalf of the working man. If I should again receive your support I promise that, as in the past, so in the future, I shall strive for good government and the advancement in every possible way of the interests of the Gleichen electors.

E. H. Riley's Strathmore Meeting

Considering that it was held on Saturday afternoon, which is generally the busiest time of the week, the attendance at the meeting held in Strathmore in furtherance of Mr Riley's candidature was very good, and the audience was composed to a great extent of farmers and others who would find it difficult to attend an evening meeting. The chairman was Mr W. E. Brown.

Mr Riley, who was the first speaker, devoted his time mainly to an exposition of the A. & G. W. Railway deal and of his reasons for resigning. The Premier had said at the meeting held in Strathmore on Thursday that there was no excuse for him (the speaker) not being able to understand the Act, because it only consisted of two pages in large type which any schoolboy could read and understand. That was quite true, but it was not the Act itself they took exception to mainly, but the agreement, which was not laid before the House before the Act was passed. The specifications which the Government had agreed to would have allowed the compady to plow up some prairie loam, place ties at intervals of 7 feet along it, lay down some old rails, and then colleet $20,000 a mile. It was only after weeks of hard debate in the legislative assembly that the Government consented to bring down the papers regarding the A. & G. W. Railway agreement, and when the heap of scattered and jumbled sheets was placed on the table, the first to be examined was a telegram from the Government at Edmonton asking Mr Mintz, Winnipeg, solicitor for the company, what was the paid-up capital of the company. This was dated on the same day as a member had asked a question regarding the amount of paid-up capital of the company. The Government didn't even know that, and wired after the question was asked. Mr Riley gave many other instances of the iniquitousness of the railway deal. He also expressed his feelings on the action of Lieut.-Governor Bulyea in calling on a member of the judiciary to take up the premiership. It was done so that the public would not have the opportunity of judging the men responsible for that deal, but he (Mr Riley) had determined that one constituency at least would have a chance of passing judgment on it. That was the reason he resigned.

Continuing, he said that he had been active in their interests at Edmonton. He saw that they were getting a grant for road improvement in Strathmore district (there being an election on). If they looked up the files at Edmonton they would find a communication from E. H. Riley six months ago asking for the same thing, but it was refused then. It had been said that if Gleichen did not elect Mr McArthur they would get no Government money spent here, but the contrary would be the case. He instanced the case of High River, which elected an opposition member, A. J. Robertson. The Government member, when he asked for anything for his constituency, was usually told that they couldn't possibly do it, and to try and pacify them as well as he could. If they cast a vote for A. J. McArthur they would be giving authority to the Government to go on with the A. & G. W. Railway.

Mr W. J. Tregillus, who followed, said he was not a politician, but a plain farmer. Premier Sifton, when met by a deputation of the U.F.A. directors asking for aid to the farmers, had said that the farmers should work out their own salvation, and that all the money was required for railways and transportation. The farmers intended to do that, and when they did Premier Sifton would need to look out for his own salvation. Mr Tregillus spent much of his address on criticism of the Albertan, and wound up by advising the farmers, if they wished to better their interests, to vote for Mr Riley.

The last speaker was Mr McGillivray, of Calgary, who in an eloquent and passionate speech, denounced the method of appointment of Premier Sifton, which if it might be within the letter of the Constitution, was entirely outside the spirit of it. If Premier Sifton's example was followed, it would mean the degradation of the judiciary, in whose impartiality there was at present such implicit belief. The judiciary should not be made merely a stepping-stone in politics.

An opposition note was supplied in the meeting by the speech of Mr M. E. Sly, of Strathmore, who took up some of the points raised by Mr Riley. Mr Riley had been one of those who had assisted at the passage of the A. & G. W. Act, and his excuse that he trusted the then Premier was no justification. There was no reason for him resigning and putting the country to such expense, as his re-election would serve no purpose.

The meeting closed with cheers for Mr Riley.

Gleichen Exhibition

The third annual exhibition held in Gleichen under the auspices of Gleichen District Agricultural Association will take place on October 11 and 12. The premium list for this Exhibition is a very comprehensive one, including, in horses, Clydes, Shires, Percheron, Belgian, Suffolk Punch, unregistered heavy draft, light horses (standard bred), thoroughbreds, beef cattle, sheep, swine, dogs, poultry, grain (spring wheat, fall wheat, other grains and grasses, sheaf grain), vegetables, dairy produce, ladies' work.

The sporting events include a good number of horse and pony races, for which some fine purses are offered, also foot races, and a tug of war competition.

The total amount offered in prizes totals $1500, so that it will be seen that the people of Gleichen are sparing no effort to make their exhibition a successful one. They cordially invite Strathmore farmers and others to enter in the various classes enumerated above.

Copies of the complete prize list can be had at the Standard office. They would like to see the Strathmore farmers taking this opportunity of showing what they can do in the cattle, grain, vegetable, and poultry breeding line.

A proposal will come before Strathmore Council on Tuesday to use the Fire Hall as a temporary schoolroom for the Primary Class of Strathmore School. This has been rendered necessary by the great increase in the number of pupils, the Primary Class alone now numbering 54. The schoolhouse is already far too small, despite the fact that a large extension was built this spring. This is another proof, if any were needed, of the expansion of Strathmore during the year

Vote for——?

On Monday the electors of this district will be called upon to vote for the election of a representative in the Alberta Legislative Assembly. The candidates are E. H. Riley, the ex-member, and A. J. McArthur, both of Holhurst. The electors by this time should have carefully weighed the personalities and politics of the two men, as every opportunity has been given by public meetings and through the press.

With regard to this election, we have carefully refrained from expressing an opinion one way or the other, as we believe the duty of a newspaper, when there is only one in a community, is to give news and not one side of any political question. We have published fair reports of Strathmore political meetings, and our advertising columns have been open to both candidates. At the same time, we have endeavored to avoid curtailing the local news by temporarily extending the size of the Standard.

We now say in conclusion:—Elect every elector vote according to his best judgment, and may the best man win.

Literary Society to be Started

A preliminary step has been taken in the formation of a Literary Society by the circulation of a petition asking those favorable to the proposal to sign their names. Although the petition was only circulated for the first time on Thursday enough signatures have been appended to secure the success of the venture. There are a number of members of last year's society who have not yet been approached, and these will almost certainly join this year's society.

The following is the form of the petition and the names appended:

STRATHMORE LITERARY AND DEBATING SOCIETY

As the long winter and autumn evenings are now commencing, preliminary arrangements have been made for organizing a Literary and Debating Society in Strathmore. The promoters are desirous of the support of all who are interested in the district, and would like the signatures appended to the foregoing list of any who will support the meetings, by their presence, and by becoming members of the society.

W. Vickery, A. M. Starrak, N. S. Hayes, M. J. Donnelly, J. H. M. Martin, T. H. Irvine, John MacKenzie, Frank Lloyd, D. Shields, E. Husband, C. P. Charlton, J. T. Kehoe, M. B. Garrett, W. A. P. Knight, Harold Henry, R. W. McDonald, R. K. Delong, C. B. H. Newell, B. Archer, A. Lancaster, Wm. Swanson, S. N. Worthington, Eugene Sly, J. W. Waddy.

Successful Dance

The Ladies' Aid of the Church of St Michael and All Angels of Strathmore are to be heartily congratulated on the successful results of the dance given under this auspices in the Strathmore Hall last Friday evening. They evidently went to a great deal of trouble to make the affair go off with the proper swing and vitality. The attendance was large and fashionable; people from as far west as Dalroy being in attendance.

Shortly after 8:30 the guests began to arrive by motor and horse and every style from Shanks' mare when no better conveyance was to be found. The music was provided by the local orchestra with several voluntary selections from the guests. Some of the most enjoyable dances were played by a volunteer orchestra from Dalroy, and the program of dances was pleasantly varied by vocal and instrumental selections by Miss Harris, of Calgary, Mrs Dawson, the Dalroy orchestra, and Miss Desch, of Baltimore. A dainty supper was served at midnight, after which those who had a feet for the dance resumed the program, which was kept up till the small hours.

As will be seen from our advertising columns, Messrs Shields & Husband have taken over the restaurant business formerly carried on by Mr Chas. O'bray, and as the meals they put up are of the best, they should command a good share of local patronage

An excellent article on the Demonstration Farm appeared in the "Albertan" recently

MONTREAL'S CAVERNS

LITTLE KNOWN SEPULCHRES WHERE CLERGY LIE BURIED.

Beneath the Roar of the Great City's Life Are to Be Found Hundreds of Tombs Where Rest the Earthly Remains of Men Who Served the Altars Above—They Range From Archbishops to Humblest Priests.

Far from the roar of life, the dead sleep their long sleep behind the mountain; but not all who die in Montreal are sepultured in the quiet "city of the dead."

The dust of many is beneath the streets over which modern life moves with feverish activity.

Pious custom in the Roman Catholic Church, has decreed that those who serve altars shall sleep beneath them when labor is ended; and in a city so distinctively Roman Catholic as Montreal, the number of sepulchres might be expected to be large.

Archbishops, bishops, hundreds of priests, rest beneath the sanctuaries of the various Roman Catholic churches in Montreal.

At various and eager life passes over their heads, but "cannot break their sleep."

In a past day, they were influential. They filled their sacred position with ability, and with zeal. They spoke the living word.

They delivered their solemn message, and now they rest from their labors beneath those altars which are served by others.

One can see their graves in the darkness of subterranean depths.

By the flickering light, you can see the coffin-shaped mounds, made of concrete, which hide all of sculpture beneath; decipher the Latin inscriptions on the walls, which set forth the vanity of all things mortal, and the tragedy of human mutation.

"Vanity; vanitatum."

The little army of priests of the Sulpician Order, which was founded in Paris in 1641 by Monsieur Jean Jacques Oliver, and a branch of which was set up in Montreal in 1657, and who labored in the young colony under hardships of the most poignant nature, sleep under the vaults in the great Notre Dame Church which is shortly to be the scene of unequalled splendors in connection with the Eucharistic Congress.

All told, there are 135 buried under the sanctuary in Notre Dame.

Their names are kept in the registers of the Grand Seminary.

"Come I will show you," said Cure Troie, of the great parish church, in that gentle voice of his.

Down the long flight of steps, deep down into the bowels of the earth, and one sees, by the aid of the electric flash, a great stone wall, stretching across the width of the church.

"So this, then, is the door which leads to the catacombs?"

"No, you are mistaken. This door leads to the vaults in which we keep the ornaments of the church."

"Ornaments! Souvenirs?"

"Yes; souvenirs of the past; gifts, relics, things of value from their age and the associations linked with them.

"But here you see the vault which contains the dead. At least, you cannot see it actually, for you see it is sealed up.

"This vault, which contains the remains of the Sulpician priests, has been sealed up since 1875. Since that date none have been buried at Notre Dame. This church was built in 1829. We took over from the crypt of the old parish church all the bodies that were there, and deposited them in this vault. We have gone on burying in this church from that date until 1875, since which all the burials have taken place in the Grand Seminary vaults on Sherbrooke street.

"Well, when the burials ceased, we closed up the vault. We placed this marble slab against it. And above the slab you see this picture, which tells of prayer in the presence of death."

"Now, if one could break down this wall, what would one see?"

"You would see a large cross in the centre of a level space. That is all."

"The coffins have not been placed in tiers?"

"Oh, no. They have been placed in the earth, side by side, and, of course, one on top of the other; but not ranged in the shelf-like way which you will see in the catacombs of Rome."

"There is nothing visible, then?"

"Nothing. There is simply the level earth, beneath which the remains rest."

"How many would you say?"

"Well, the list of names is carefully kept by the Grand Seminary on Sherbrooke street; but there is probably over one hundred priests buried there, including to the Sulpician Order—priests who served the young colony long before the Cession, and who were sent out to this country from France."

"And bishops?"

"One bishop—Mgr. Ponbriand. The rest are all priests. Now, since 1875, all the priests are buried in the vaults on Sherbrooke street."

"Now, since that date, this vault has never been opened?"

"Never."

"And there is no thought of opening it?"

"To what end? The remains are dust. We have the register. We know each name."

At St. Ann's church, in Griffintown, the priests of the Redemptorist Order are buried in vaults which are arranged on the successive tier plan. The coffins are placed along the walls, layer upon layer, until the ceiling is reached.

Each coffin is, of course, covered in with brick, and a brick lining separates each coffin, but the principle is that of the catacombs.

A similar principle is carried out at the Hotel Dieu, with respect to the burial of the cloistered nuns.

HARDINGE AS SPORTSMAN.

New Viceroy of India Is Keenly Interested in Polo.

Sir Charles Hardinge, the new viceroy of India, has taken the name of Lord Penshurst on his elevation to the peerage, from his country place at Penshurst, near Tonbridge, in Kent. Much has been written of Sir Charles' cleverness as a diplomat, of his absolute freedom from political partisanship, which is a matter of such importance in a permanent servant of the state, of his broad statesmanship and of his exceptional knowledge of court etiquette and ceremonial. But nowhere have I seen any mention made of his qualities as a sportsman, says a recent writer in a London paper. Yet sportsmanship is important in India, where no one can hope to achieve success in any high office who is not a sportsman. Charles Hardinge, or rather, as we shall call him now, Lord Penshurst, is a particularly adept and enthusiastic polo player, extremely fond of hunting, an excellent shot, and, of course skillful in court tennis and in the royal game of golf. A statesman who can lead in all these sports acquires a far greater prestige and influence among the semi-independent princes and petty native rulers of India than the administrator who is content to remain secure to rule from his desk. In fact, the most successful Viceroy and governors of India have always been those who excelled in sport.

Lord Penshurst has appointed as his private secretary to Lady Hardinge Sir Boulay, a son of the well-known head master of Winchester College and one of the many brilliant pupils who have graduated from Balliol, Oxford. He was private secretary to two successive governors of Bombay — namely, Lord Northcote and Lord Lamington, spending seven years in that capacity, and greatly distinguishing himself by his pluck and administrative ability as a special commissioner of the Government during the plague, receiving for his services as such the Order of the Indian Empire. Before becoming private secretary to Lord Northcote he was for several years a magistrate in India, and his knowledge, therefore, of the Anglo-Indian administration of India and of native life in that great dependency is quite exceptional.

The private secretary to the Viceroy is one of the most important factors in the administration of England's great Oriental empire. In fact, so great is his influence over the Viceroy he has often been described as the Deputy Viceroy. Every document, every letter, every appeal, and every every dignitary, reaches the Viceroy through him, and he is also the communicator of the Governor-General's commands, views and wishes. He is in every sense of the word the right hand of the Viceroy, a far more important personage, indeed, than the latter's Cabinet Ministers. It depends largely upon his cleverness, his judgment and his tact whether the viceroyalty of his chief is a success or a failure, and the fact that Lord Penshurst has chosen so admittedly capable a man as Du Boulay for the post has created a most favorable impression throughout India, in English as well as native circles.

Nearly all the private secretaries of Viceroys have been men of distinction, and among the ones whose names occur to me at the present moment are Lord Northcote's private secretary, Sir Evelyn Baring, who afterward ruled over Egypt, for nearly a quarter of a century as Lord Cromer; Donald Mackenzie Wallace, who was private secretary to Lord Dufferin, and Sir Walter Lawrence, who was private secretary to Lord Curzon, and has received a baronetcy, as well as a number of orders of knighthood, for his services.

A Record.

It is rather remarkable that the present British Government should contain no fewer than three Jews among its members, Sir Rufus Isaacs, the Solicitor-General, being the most prominent of the three in the way of a record. Of course, Lord Beaconsfield will always remain the most famous Jew numbered among the governors of Great Britain; but Lord Beaconsfield did not retain the Jewish faith, and since his death there has been no conspicuous Jewish Minister until the present time.

It is interesting that the Permanent Secretary of the Postoffice now presided over by Herbert Samuel, is a fellow Jew—Sir Matthew Nathan, Lord Swaythling is one of the four Jewish members of the House of Lords, the others being Lords Michelham, Rothschild, and Wandsworth. There are also four Jewish Privy Councillors—Lord Rothschild, Mr. Samuel, Sir Edgar Speyer, and Mr. Arthur Cohen, K.C.

Tribute to Late King.

A striking individual tribute to the late King was paid by a veteran splitter, working alone in the forest at Toolangi, Victoria. On the day of his Majesty's funeral W. H. Luly, crown lands bailiff, was walking through the timber getting in firewood. Everything was still save for the regular stroke of an axe. Suddenly the strokes ceased, and as they were not resumed in a minute or so he looked through the vista of trees and there saw the splitter standing stock-still, like a soldier on parade, with his hat off. The man remained in that position for five minutes. This was the veteran's tribute to the dead King. He had read somewhere that at two o'clock there would be a cessation of work for a minute or two throughout the Empire.

Too Much Burns.

One can sympathize with the piety of the Tam o' Shanter Burns Club, says a Glasgow paper, in restoring the tombstone which marks the resting-place of Mary Morison, who died 199 years ago, at the age of 20. But even the most enthusiastic Burns worshippers must think that the limit has been reached in the addition to the Alloway Museum of the old stone trough which was in use at the Tam o' Shanter Inn, Ayr, in the poet's lifetime. From what we know of Burns there is not the slightest probability that he ever drank out of it.

MARK TWAIN'S CLOTHES.

The Great Humorist Always Had a Relish For Personal Effect.

At the time of our first meeting Mark Twain was wearing a sealskin coat, with the fur out, in the satisfaction of a caprice or the love of strong effect which he was apt to indulge through life. Fields, the publisher, was present.

I do not know what droll comment was in Fields' mind with respect to this garment, but probably he felt that here was an original who was not to be brought to any Bostonian book in the judgment of his vivid qualities. With his crest of dense red hair and the wide sweep of his flaming mustache Clemens was not discordantly clothed in that sealskin coat, and afterward, in spite of his own warmth in it, sent the cold chills through me when I once accompanied it down Broadway, and shared the immense publicity it won him.

Clemens had always a relish for personal effect, which expressed itself in the white suit of complete serge which he wore in his last years and in the Oxford gown which he put on for every possible occasion and said he would like to wear all the time. That was not vanity in him, but a keen feeling for costume which the severity of our modern tailoring forbids men, though it flatters women to every excess in it.—W. D. Howells in Harper's Magazine.

HIS BLACK EYE.

How He Got It and the Worst That Was Yet to Come.

"Gracious! That's a peach of a black eye. Where did you get it?"

"Got it on the left side of my nose. Where did you think I got it—over the ankle bone?"

"Don't get heated. How did it all happen?"

"That's different. It was all a piece of my confounded luck. I was up on the Blue Cliff road looking at a piece of real estate when along came a restless and hardheaded fellow running for dear life with a lot of panting pursuers stretching in a long line behind him. I joined in the chase. Being fresh, I rapidly overhauled the fugitive. I had nearly collared him when the Indian grabbed me and profanely told me to clear out. I spoke politely to him and kept on running, and he suddenly reached out a fist like a ham and knocked me into a ditch. And what do you suppose it all was?"

"Give it up."

"It was a rehearsal for a moving picture film, and now my portrait will go all over the country and be seen in thousands of theaters as a bruised and battered lunatic who got just what was coming to him!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Cow Decided.

A peasant living in the village of Predeal, near the Hungarian frontier owns a fine cow. About two months ago he happened to be standing at the railroad station watching a train load of cattle about to be sent across the frontier. Suddenly he gave a shout. "That's my cow!" he cried, running toward one of the cars.

The railroad only laughed at him, and he went before the magistrate. This good man listened to the peasant's story quietly, and then announced this judgment: "The cow shall be taken to the public square of Predeal and milked. Then if it goes of its own accord to the plaintiff's stable it shall belong to him."

The order of the court was carried out, and the cow, in spite of its ten months' absence, took without hesitation the lane which led it a few minutes later into the peasant's stable.—Chicago News.

A Tribute of Affection.

Something of the sympathetic kindliness of nature of the late Frederick Greenwood came out in a little speech made by J. M. Barrie on the occasion of Mr. Greenwood's seventy-fifth birthday, when the men who had worked under him on the St. James' and the Pall Mall Gazette met to do him honor. In the course of his remarks Mr. Barrie confessed that he had bought his first silk hat "to impress" the veteran editor. Then he added impulsively:

"Oh, Greenwood, it is for your kindness to us boys in our first silk hats that we love you!"

A Bad Condition of Liver and Stomach

Chronic indigestion and bowel trouble which is overcome quickly by Dr. CHASE'S KIDNEY AND LIVER PILLS

To the person with liver and stomach troubles everything looks blue and life is scarcely worth living.

How different he feels even after the first dose of Dr. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills. There is no treatment obtainable which so quickly and thoroughly awakens sluggish liver and sets the bowels in healthful and regular action.

There is no question that this condition is the real cause of trouble and that any medicine which fails short of regulating these organs can at most only afford temporary relief.

What tired, languid feelings after meals, what a process of digestion is going on. What annoyance from belching wind, pressure of gas on the heart and consequent smothering sensations. What a miserable depressing feeling comes over mind and body.

And yet how easy it is to change all this by use of this medicine of well-known and decidedly remarkable value.

You are not making any experiment when you use Dr. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills for liver, stomach and bowel disorders. You can be sure before you use them that the results will be satisfactory. You will not wonder then why some people are so enthusiastic when they talk about Dr. Chase's medicines.

Mrs. Jamie Lawrence, West L'Ardoise, C. B., writes: "I have great confidence in Dr. Chase's medicines and believe that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills saved my life. I was a great sufferer from chronic dyspepsia and entirely unable to do anything. Two boxes of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills cured me and I have recommended them to many people.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

Do You Realize the Advantages of Concrete?

THE rising price of lumber has compelled the farmer to look for a suitable substitute.

Concrete, because of its cheapness, durability and the readiness with which it can be used for every farm purpose, has proven itself to be cheaper than lumber and far more durable. Our Free Book—shows the farmer how he can do his own work without the aid of skilled mechanics. It demonstrates the economy of Concrete construction as compared with lumber, brick or stone.

"What the Farmer Can Do With Concrete"

WEALTH OF H. B. LAND

POSSESSES MINERAL AND AGRICULTURAL WEALTH

Prof. Brock, Just Returned from Hudson Bay Country, Says there are Vast Areas of Land Suitable for Farming—There is an Abundance of Water Suitable for Power and Other Purposes.

Ottawa.—That the country through which the new Hudson Bay railway will run possesses agricultural and mineral possibilities that need only easy facilities to open them up is the substance of an interview given by Prof. R. W. Brock, director of the geological survey, who has just returned from a trip on which he accompanied Earl Grey through the north country.

"While I had not time to make a thorough examination of any kind," said Prof. Brock, "I noticed one promising looking belt on the Echimamish river, up which we went. It was about 150 miles long. There has of course been no prospecting in this district owing to the difficulties in transportation. The railway, however, will supply a splendid base for this work, and several of the inlets afford great opportunities for it.

As regards agriculture, the country, of course, does not offer such advantages as does the prairie, still there is a lot of land that could be used for farming north of Lake Winnipeg particularly. It would, however, need experimental work to decide this question fully.

"There is any amount of water power available all through the country that is capable of development, the Nelson river itself being one of the biggest in the world in this respect."

"What do you think of the proposed route of the Hudson Bay railway? Is the country a hard one for railroading?" was asked.

"Our route," said Prof. Brock, "lay somewhat south of the location of the road, but I do not think the district offers many difficulties for railway work. There are muskegs, of course, but these are to be found in northern Ontario where the Transkaming & Northern Ontario operates, and on the Transcontinental, too."

Prof. Brock is the only member of Earl Grey's party so far returned to Ottawa. He is preparing a report on the geological features of the country through which he passed, for a survey.

ASK DAMAGES FROM G. T. P.

Eighty-Five Writs Have Been Issued in the Supreme and District Courts for Fire Loses.

Edmonton.—Fifty-two writs have been issued in the district of Edmonton against the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway company and 33 writs in the supreme court against the same company demanding damages for loss by fire a year ago when the big prairie fire swept the country in the neighborhood of Viking on the line of the G. T. P.

These writs were taken out by 85 settlers who lost a considerable amount of goods through the fire, damage to surface soil, growing timber, fencing, cord wood, hay and straw.

It is claimed that the company had not sufficient fire guards along the right-of-way, and that the servants of the company started the fire by not taking care while they handled it, during the dry season, thereby allowing it to get away from them.

The fire started on the 23rd of Sept. of last year and raged for several days between Viking and Vegreville, doing a large amount of damage as well as losing in the death of one child.

The writs do not claim damages for any very large amounts, the largest being two for the sum of $2,000, the majority being for sums of $100 and $500.

PEAT BURNS WELL

Good Results Obtained at the Government Plant at Alfred, Ontario

Ottawa.—At the exhibition held here recently the Dominion department of mines made a successful demonstration of peat fuel from the government plant at Alfred, Ont. Several hundred tons of this fuel are being brought to Ottawa and sold at $3.25 per ton delivered, which makes it equivalent to hard coal at less than $6.00 per ton. The burning qualities of the peat manufactured at Alfred were a surprise to all who were not before acquainted with them. The Canadian Peat society, which has been lately formed to advance the peat industry in Canada, will hold a meeting in Ottawa about the first week of December to discuss practical questions involved in putting the manufacture of the new fuel on a commercial basis throughout Canada wherever workable bogs are found.

TO SETTLE BRITISH LABOR WAR

Cotton Manufacturers and Employes Agree to Arbitrate Dispute

Manchester, Eng.—The dispute between the cotton manufacturers and their employes is now in a fair way of settlement. At a meeting of the Cardroom Amalgamation recently it was decided to submit for arbitration the question at issue, which threatened a lockout in the entire cotton trade by October.

For a long time there has been a dispute between the firm of Platt & Fern mill at Oldham and their employes because of a new arrangement of working conditions. Not long ago the federation of master cotton spinners decided to enforce a general lockout affecting directly 150,000 operatives, unless the Fern mill question was settled.

READY-MADE FARMS COMPLETED

Have Been Officially Inspected By Mr. Dennis and Ready to Receive Settlers

Calgary.—The ready-made farms which are being prepared for next spring at Sedgewick, C-ntral Alberta, under Sir Thos. Shaughnessy's colonization scheme for British settlers, are now practically completed, and have been officially inspected by J. S. Dennis, assistant to the vice-president of the Canadian Pacific railway, accompanied by J. M. Gibbon, representing the London office of that company. That new buildings are substantially erected according to artistic designs.

At the agricultural fair held at Sedgewick, the excellence of the crops produced in the district was demonstrated by the quality of the exhibits, winter wheat going 47 bushels and oats 62. Government Inspector Craig presided over the exhibits and was pleased inspected by him at similar exhibitions, held elsewhere this season. The fifty ready-made farms of 160 to 320 acres respectively, for which British farmers will be brought out in the early spring, and the prospect of their speedy colonization, have raised the price of office rents in that vicinity fully twenty-five per cent.

Mr. Gibbon has also visited the Irrican colony of ready-made farms which were settled this spring and reports that settlers there are thoroughly satisfied with their new homes and highly optimistic as to the future. They employ co-operative methods, and have adapted themselves to Canadian conditions with the happiest results.

RAILWAYS VIOLATE THE LAW

Chairman Mabee Makes Reference to the Methods of Fencing and Cattle Guards

Winnipeg.—Having occupied the railway commission here, the first being the extension of a private spur, which Blackwell's brewery has projected, but the firms were ordered to come to an agreement or the commission will decide. Petitioners want the spur extended for an industrial site.

The grain growers asked the commission to compel railway companies to maintain fences and adequate cattle guards.

The matter was discussed informally, both grain growers' representatives and the railway companies giving their unreserved opinions at the manner in which railway companies had violated the law and their refusals to compensate for cattle killed on the tracks. Judge Mabee in conclusion expressed doubt whether the commission could do anything, being uncertain whether he could impose any penalties for failure to maintain adequate cattle guards and fences. He would think it over and if he could find anything he could do, he would do it.

The Canadian Pacific railway was given authority to double track their Portage la Prairie main line, crossing the Canadian Northern and Great Grand Trunk Pacific, the latter companies to pay for interlocking plant at the crossings of the lines.

TO EXPAND TRADE RELATIONS

Want Australian Stationed at Vancouver to Develop Commerce Between Canada and Australia

Melbourne, Aus.—With the effort to expand the trade relations between Australia and Canada, given great close attention by W. H. Ross, the trade commissioner for Canada in Victoria, Southern Australia, and for Tasmania, Mr. Ross has been interviewing the minister of customs with the object of inducing the appointment of Australian stationed at Vancouver whose business would be to develop the commerce generally between the two countries. Mr. Tuder, the Australian to Vancouver is a commercial traveler but hoped to see the way clear to induce the cabinet to appoint a commercial man, resident of Vancouver, to represent the commonwealth. The matter will be placed before the ministers for decision.

It is considered unlikely that the Victorian government will be able to see its own state to find a successor to Mr. Tait, who resigned the post of chairman of the railway commission. In some circles it is taken for granted that Fitzpatrick, a colleague of Tait's, will accept the vacant position. Fitzpatrick has had a remarkable career. He entered the railway service in the capacity of office messenger and has risen by native ability to the place he at present holds.

POINT GREY UNIVERSITY SITE

Beautiful Seaside Resort Chosen by British Columbia University

Victoria, B. C.—The report of the university commission appointed during the session to select a site for the future British Columbia University was made public, having been received only a week ago. The commission has decided upon Point Grey, a seaside resort of Vancouver, as the site. The commissioners are Dr. C. Weldon, G. Dauth, G. C. Jones, O. D. Skelton and Walter C. Murray, all Eastern educationalists.

The university site commission is of the opinion that the site of the university should not be placed on a site which may in time be completely surrounded by a city, and respectfully suggest that not less than 250 acres be set apart for the university campus, and 700 acres for experimental purposes in agriculture and forestry. This is exclusive of a forest reserve for forestry operations on a large scale.

Already two million acres have been set apart by the provincial government as an endowment fund for the university.

The members of the opposition were not present.

TO NEGOTIATE WITH CANADA

INTERNATIONAL TRADE RELATIONS WITH U. S.

President Taft is Anxious to Have Negotiations for a Reciprocity Treaty Opened at Once—Has Secured Consent of Ambassador Bryce for Direct Communication Between United States and the Dominion.

Beverly, Mass.—Formal steps looking to the opening of negotiations for a reciprocity treaty with Canada have been taken by President Taft, who has secured the consent of the British ambassador, Rt. Hon. J. Bryce, for direct communications between the United States and the Dominion government.

The announcement of this fact was made following the publication of the president's intention to open negotiations early in October. It is the president's hope now that the latter part of October will find the negotiations in full swing.

Important developments may grow out of the affair, having a direct bearing upon the entire tariff of the United States, particularly if the treaty finally negotiated should grant to Canadian exports to the United States a lower rate of duty than is provided for in the Payne-Aldrich law.

This is one of the problems the president will be called upon to deal with now. Should a reciprocity treaty finally be agreed upon to make these concessions to Canada, the effect of its ratification by the senate would seemingly be to repeal the Payne-Aldrich law insofar as it affects Canada.

The president's view of this is that a treaty is the law of the land, and as congress has power may cover the subjects, there is no reason why it may not include the tariff.

FINGER PRINTS WILL BE TAKEN

System of Identification Will be Used to Check Use of Fraudulent Passports

Vancouver.—Difficulties in connection with the regulating of Chinese immigration into Canada via Vancouver, as evidenced by the holding of 68 immigrants who came on the Empress of China recently, on the charge that they were using fraudulent passports, are not beyond solution.

It is proposed that by the introduction of the finger print system of identification the problem of identification of immigrants as the people for whom passports were originally issued in China will be made easy.

The matter or not the department has any intention of adopting this principle is not stated, but Edward Prior, Dominion police officer, who is in the city working on the case, is himself a finger print expert, and advises some force to the report that he is developing a plan to make the work of the department easier. The finger print system of identification of Orientals is used successfully in South Africa and in the countries in India's East Indians and Chinese emigrate.

At present when suspicion of fraud arises, it is impossible to identify or get at the facts of the case, as without a record there would have to be brought from China at great expense.

"The only reason I can ascribe for the passing of the provision as contained in immigration is that I misunderstood the instructions of the department at Ottawa. It was owing to this misunderstanding that I reinstated Yip On, customs Chinese interpreter," said John M. Bowell recently.

CATTLE BEING KEPT IN SOUTH

The Recent Rains Have Assured Stock Raisers of Plenty of Green Food

Calgary.—That the desire of the cattlemen of the southern part of the province to ship their cattle northward in view of the better and cheaper facilities has abated, owing to the recent rains in this part of the province, is the statement of Live Stock Commissioner Stevens, of Edmonton.

"The southern stockmen now feel that they have sufficient feed to sustain the cattle which they will have on their hands during the winter," said Mr. Stevens, "and have accordingly ceased calling for cars. The recent rains have brought the grass along in fine style, and it is also reported that now the pastures of southern cattle by the northern stockmen has fallen off considerably. A few weeks cattle could have been bought rather cheaply, but with the feed prospects looking up again in the south there has gone up again and the demand has gone down."

The rate is also likely to affect the price of hay that was beginning to soar up some time ago, as the rise was largely due to the feeling that feed would be very scarce this winter.

PREDICTS ROUT OF OLD GUARD

Claims He Will Have One Hundred Majority at Republican Convention in Saratoga

Oyster Bay, N. Y.—The utter rout of the "Old Guard" by Theodore Roosevelt and the Republican state convention in Saratoga, was predicted by Colonel Roosevelt himself. At the conclusion of a long conference with half a dozen of the lieutenants, Colonel Roosevelt said: "I think I may be reasonably safe in saying that we shall have one hundred majority."

"In my opinion," said he, "the Saratoga convention will adopt a resolution strongly endorsing the administration of President Taft. In accordance with the president's expressed wish, no mention will be made of a nomination in 1912."

Prosperity in All Western Canada

Vancouver, B.C.—"Vancouver enjoys no monopoly of prosperity, for I see vast constructive forces at work in the entire region of Lake Superior to the coast and particularly from Winnipeg to the Rockies," said Honorable Colonel J. M. Gibson, Lieut.-Governor of Ontario, who, with his party on their private car of the Ontario government arrived here.

AUSTRALIA LOSES JAMES TAIT

Has Resigned Chairmanship of the Victorian Railway Commission

Melbourne, Australia.—The retirement of Thomas James Tait, the chairman of the Victorian railway commission, has taken place under somewhat delicate circumstances. Mr. Tait came here seven years ago from Canada. He had been the manager of transportation for the Canadian Pacific, and took over a similar position in this state. He started in to make many reforms in the administration, and as a result the system was put on a paying basis for the first time. Under his management the surplus last year reached the million dollar mark. During the present year Mr. Tait's good fortune did not continue. Accidents were numerous on the line, lives were lost, and much property destroyed. Unrest in the ranks of the workers displayed itself, and in addition the Labor party to the state launched venemous attacks against Mr. Tait's management. As a section of the press aided the agitation by making grossly unfair charges, and matters came to a head recently when, before adjournment, the house of assembly made an opportunity for discussion re-garding an official inquiry into the cause of numerous accidents on the system. The premier, Mr. Bent, the debate had proceeded for, rose and announced that Mr. Tait, for family reasons, had decided to relinquish his post under the government. The engagement which have, it was said, terminated shortly, but Mr. Tait was anxious to be released at the beginning of December.

The leader of the government and his supporters eulogized the work of Mr. Tait in the state, and referred to him as a first-class railway manager. It is understood he will return to Canada, where he has friends in Sir Thos. Shaughnessy with the statement of "Tait should never have left us; there is a place for him."

Mr. Tait is expected to return to Canada shortly after Christmas.

He was born in Melbourne, Que., on July 24, 1864, and is the son of Sir Melbourne Tait, chief justice of the superior court for the province of Quebec.

TO BUILD CHINESE FLEET

It is Reported That Schwab Will Close Deal with Chinese for Fifteen Ships

San Francisco—It is stated here that Charles M. Schwab, president of the United States Steel corporation, is to meet Prince Tsai Feng, brother of the emperor of China, in this city to close a deal for the building of a fleet of war vessels for China.

In support of the assertion that American shipyards are likely to be given the work of building the warships, John A. McGregor, president of the Iron works at San Francisco, is quoted as saying: "When the Chinese government was determined upon building a fleet, the Bethlehem Steel company, through Schwab, drew up plans and specifications for the vessels. These, it is understood, have been favorably considered. My information is to the effect that the order is worth a dozen or fifteen ships."

ELECTIONS WILL BE POSTPONED

The Present Term is Up, but the New Act Will Change Conditions

Edmonton.—The first senate of the University of Alberta, elected when the university was established over a year ago, will automatically go out of office on Tuesday next, according to the regulations under which they were elected.

It is probable, however, that the senate will continue to hold office, until after the passing of the new university act, which will provide for the election of an election will be discussed at a meeting of the senate to be held before the end of this month.

It is not deemed advisable that there should be a redistribution of a large number of applications for these positions have been received, as a result of an advertisement published in the Official Gazette.

It is understood that Mr. Murphy's report on the printing bureau will be shortly receive consideration by the cabinet council.

REVISING PLANS

Reason For the Delay in the Building of Ships For Canadian Navy

Ottawa.—The delay in letting the contracts for the construction of the vessels for the Canadian navy is due to the fact that the admiralty is revising the plans for the vessels of the Bristol and River torpedo boat destroyer classes, and until the revision is completed it is not ready to allow them to be viewed. Naturally the admiralty naval experts are very secret as to the plans of war vessels, and representatives of the firms desiring to tender are sworn to secrecy before they view them. As soon as the admiralty is prepared to allow the plans to be viewed there will be progress in the direction of naval construction but not before.

In Memory of Laura Secord

St. Catherines, Ont.—The statue in memory of Laura Secord, the heroine of Queenston Heights, is now completed and in position on the heights ready for unveiling. It bears the following inscription:

This monument has been erected by the government of Canada to Laura Ingersoll Secord, who saved her husband's life by her walk on these heights, Oct. 13, 1812, and who, risking her own life in carrying to Captain Fitzgibbon the information by which he won the victory of Beaver Dam, July 24, 1813."

Heavy Immigration to Canada

London—In August, 19,832 immigrants left for Canada. During the past eight months 146,817 immigrants have gone to Canada from the United Kingdom.

WORK ON ALBERTA IRRIGATION

Six Hundred Men with 400 Teams Are Busily at Work on the Big Ditch

Gleichen.—With 46 miles of the enormous canal that is to irrigate land from Lake McGregor in the Bow Valley to the Bow river near the Blackfoot reserve, already constructed it is expected that the 63,000 acres of land that the southern Alberta Land company hold in this district will be placed on the market next year.

This irrigation ditch which will allow for the constant flow of ten feet of water will cost somewhere in the vicinity of $4,000,000. Three years have already been spent on the work but it is considered sufficiently well advanced now to open up the lands next year. The work has rendered a service to those homesteaders who have found the past season a trying one, for it has provided almost a surfeit of employment. No less than 600 teams are busy at the present time under the direction of the contractor, Mr. D. F. McArthur, and this represents over 600 men.

The final width of the ditch when completed will be about 150 miles, but, even then, it is not the largest one in Alberta.

What with this ditch and the railroad, the Southern Alberta line from Medicine Hat to Calgary a wealthy future is assured for this district.

MINES AT BRAZEAU SHUT DOWN

Clash Between C. N. R. Officials and Development Company Given as Cause of Suspension

Edmonton.—Although his contract for working the mines does not expire until November 1st, Mr. Rowe, general manager of the Brazeau collieries, has received a cart telegram from Toronto telling him to suspend operations.

It is stated here that Mackenzie & Mann and the General Development company, which are both interested in these coal fields have had a clash and the mines have been closed down.

Another reason given is that owing to the resistance of settlers in that district regarding the continuation of the Brazeau branch from the Canadian Northern railway main line, on the grounds that their plans have not been approved by the railway commission, the company has given up all hope of reaching a satisfactory conclusion.

STRIKERS TO BE REINSTATED

Minister of Railways Takes Matter Up With President Hays of the G. T. R.

Ottawa.—It is understood that as a result of the meeting held here between President C. M. Hays and Hon. Geo. P. Graham, minister of railways, the machinists' strike on employees of the Grand Trunk, who lost their positions on account of the strike, will be taken back by the Grand Trunk.

Mr. Graham drew Mr. Hays' attention to complaints which have been made by the strikers, and their representatives to him that the company was not living up to the terms of its agreement with the railway by the lack of employees was concerned.

Mr. Hays pointed out that the company did not agree to take back all the strikers, barring those guilty of violence, but considering thirty days had elapsed, the terms of the agreement would be complied with.

ANOTHER MAN FIRED

This Has Followed the Probe of the Bureau Made by Hon. Mr. Murphy, Secretary of State

Ottawa.—Another official of the printing bureau, in the person of Joseph A. Frigon, has been asked for his resignation as a result of Hon. Charles Marcil's probe into the bureau affairs. Allen Chamberlain, registrar of supplies of some time ago, handed in his resignation, while Mr. McMahon, superintendent of printing, was superannuated.

The matter will shortly appoint a superintendent of printing and a superintendent of stationery. A large number of applications for these positions have been received, as a result of an advertisement published in the Official Gazette.

It is understood that Mr. Murphy's report on the printing bureau will be shortly receive consideration by the cabinet council.

Examination for Naval Cadets

Ottawa.—Notice appears in the Canada Gazette that a general competitive examination for cadets for the naval service of Canada will be held on November 8 at various points in Canada, including Port Arthur, Winnipeg, Brandon, Regina, Saskatoon, Calgary, Edmonton, Nelson, Vancouver and Victoria.

Every Person in Canada Will Profit

Winnipeg.—Business men generally, but especially those members of the board of trade and grain exchange, are much interested in the decision of the railway commission that the Canadian Northern must be held into rates charged by telegraph companies on business in and out of Winnipeg. It is pointed out that the decision is of immediate interest to all business men in Canada, because a telegraph company can charge higher rates all over Canada connecting with Winnipeg, or in other words a review of the rates in every part of the country.

CHAMBERLAIN'S PROPHECY

Former Chancellor of the Exchequer Says We Have Gone as Predicted

Birmingham, Eng.—The Rt. Hon. Austin Chamberlain, former chancellor of the exchequer, in a speech here that what he had prophesied has happened.

The Canadian government—and no one could blame or criticize them—had negotiated, and were still negotiating, commercial treaties with foreign countries which they would have made with Britain if they could, but had been ready to grasp the outstretched hands. It would be deplorable, he said, if the next general election should be allowed to pass without anything being done in that connection.

AMERICANS ARE WELL SATISFIED

ANOTHER LIE UTTERED BY OUR ENEMIES IS REFUTED

Messrs. Denhart, Giese and Berger Deny Statements Attributed to Them in Seattle—They Will Take Steps to Have Seattle Papers Publish Truth in the Matter, as Statements Are Absolutely Untrue.

Calgary.—Denying that they were ever dissatisfied with conditions in Alberta or Canada, or that they ever said they were, and characterizing a report printed in one of the Seattle papers during the "Why go to Canada" campaign of the American press saying that they were dissatisfied, as absolutely untrue in every particular, Messrs. Paul Denhart, Giese and Berger, of Brooks, were in the city recently and expressed great dissatisfaction with the report, and stating that as much publicity as possible be given to their denial.

"I am sorry that these reports have been circulated in Seattle," said Mr. Denhart. "As far as I am personally concerned, the statement that I am dissatisfied with Alberta is absolutely untrue. I have never authorized anyone to quote me in such a manner, and I am more than satisfied with my present conditions. My flax, even after all this dry weather, is fine, and my oats are in splendid condition. In fact, I intend to do some more plowing as soon as I am able, and to put in much larger crops."

Mr. Giese also expressed much dissatisfaction with the false statements credited to him. "As far as land in Alberta is concerned, I cannot praise it too highly," he said, "both for the quality of its soil and crops. I have gone over Alberta thoroughly and have seen wheat that would thresh for from twenty to forty-five bushels per acre."

Mr. Berger also agreed with this statement, and said that the agricultural outlook in Alberta seemed as bright as that in any country he had ever seen, and that he could see more sections of land at the same price as he paid for those that I at present hold, I would be glad to have them," he said, "and when I say that I mean it. I am handy looks as if I am dissatisfied with the country and doing my best to get out."

Although the offending articles were published some little time ago, they have not been brought to the attention of the men who are credited with them, and they are taking steps to have them denied in Seattle, as well as refuting the denial as much publicity as possible in other places.

"There is a limit to all things," said Mr. Denman, "and in this case it has been reached right here. I am sorry we did not see the reports earlier so that they might not have been given such a start."

INNISFAIL AGENT WINS PRIZE

Prize of $50 Awarded for Most Attractive Station Gardens and Grounds

Calgary.—The competition by agents and section foremen of the Canadian Pacific railway for the most attractive looking station gardens and grounds has been won in the first division by Mr. W. Nickells, agent at Innisfail, who receives the prize of $50. The agents receiving prizes for the next best kept grounds on the respective districts are Mr. R. A. Johnson, agent at Cochrane; Mr. M. C. Bowen, agent at Langdon, and Mr. R. Reading, agent at Fernie.

The prize competition for the best photograph of a flower garden at a station will be closed, closed, and competitors should send in their prints and negatives as quickly as possible to Mr. A. M. Dunlop, floral department, Montreal. This competition is open to all employees, as well as professional and amateur photographers.

EXPANSION IN WESTERN CANADA

Alberta Mission Fields to be Well Manned During the Winter

Toronto.—Rev. R. E. McLaren, home missions secretary for the Presbyterian church, has returned from attending two synodical committee meetings in the west, in British Columbia at Calgary and Vancouver respectively. He reports that the work under Rev. A. E. Hetherington, superintendent for Alberta is exceeding expectations, and that the same is true in British Columbia under Rev. O. A. Wilson.

Dr. McLaren thinks the fields will be well manned in both synods during the winter months, although they will not be fully up to all the needs of the Manitoba and Saskatchewan, he was informed by Dr. Carmichael, thirty additional students for education have no present hope of supply.

EXPAND BUSINESS IN CALGARY

Some Store Developments to be Made in The Hudson's Bay Calgary Branch

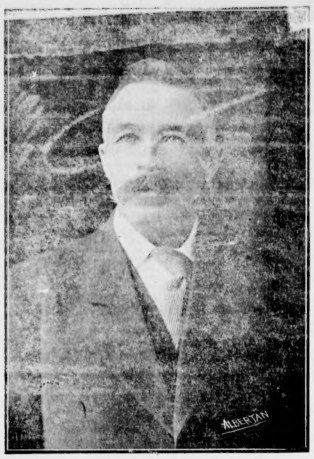
Toronto, Ont.—A special cable from London says: "There is not a word in the cable from Winnipeg received in the Financial News that the Hudson's Bay company has bought land in the centre of Toronto for a huge store to compete with Eaton's.

"No such project has been even discussed by the board. The News talks of a coming battle royal for the supremacy of Toronto trade, which a director has assured me is all childish nonsense."

Deputy Governor Skinner and Mr. Burbridge go to Winnipeg for a fortnight hence to inaugurate a new and vigorous policy. Both these gentlemen will not be at Toronto, but at Winnipeg, Calgary and Vancouver."

H. B. Co.'s New Sales Manager

London.—Herbert Burbidge, son of Richard Burbidge, has been appointed general manager of the sale shop side of the Hudson's Bay company's business in Canada. He sails on October 7. It is expected that he will inaugurate a vigorous campaign of extension of business in Western Canada.



A. J. McARTHUR, the Government Candidate

A. J. McArthur's Election Address

Crescent Heights, Alta.,
Aug. 31, 1910.

To the Electors of Gleichen.

Gentlemen: Having been selected by a unanimous vote of the recent Liberal convention, to be the standard bearer of the Liberal party at the approaching by-election, I beg leave to place before you my reasons for soliciting your support.

The late member for Gleichen in his letter of resignation disagreed with the Lieutenant-Governor in calling upon the Hon. A. L. Sifton to form a government, and termed his action "political jugglery, chicanery, and unconstitutional," and, as a protest, the member for Gleichen resigned his seat.

No other member of the legislature resigned, but they were almost unanimous in endorsing the action of the Lieutenant-Governor, and have confidence in the Hon. A. L. Sifton's administration.

In regard to the constitutional aspect a prominent Conservative lawyer Mr C. C. McCaul, in the recent campaign against the Premier at Vermilion said:—"I admit the appointment was quite constitutional and a precedent was established when Sir Chas. Tupper was called from the High Commissioner's chair in England to take the leadership of my own party, the Conservatives."

In making this admission Mr C. C. McCaul went on further to say with regard to the Premier: "His friends and admirers (and they are many) will tell you that he is the only man capable of carrying on the government; that he is the brainiest, cleverest and most far-seeing man, firm and deliberate in his reasoning and, gentlemen, to be honest with you, I am rather of that opinion myself." This from our opponents, should prove that the appointment of the Hon. A. L. Sifton is not only constitutional, but that the services of the best man have been secured, and the Liberals of Alberta can have a united Liberal party under such wise and able leadership.

"Gentlemen, do you wish to return a representative to harass and obstruct the government, or will you cast your ballot in favor of order and progress?

I am prepared to give the present administration my cordial and conscientious support. I believe the electors of Gleichen want discord to cease and the business of the country to be carried on in a business-like manner and I also believe that the interests of this constituency and the province will best be served by returning a member in sympathy with the present administration.

I am, gentlemen,

Yours for business,

(Sgd.) A. J. McARTHUR.
